Pet Therapy &
Aromatherapy Specialist

My name is Robyn Van Dusen I am a R.N. of over 30 years, with the last 21 in Hospice care. While Hospice care is End of Life care technically, to me it is about Quality of Life. It is a gift of dignity, compassion and understanding. It is truly not to be feared.

Having patients and families understand that when it comes time for Hospice – it does not mean you are giving up or giving in. Helping them embrace this part of their journey knowing that there will be a team to guide them and ensure their comfort. Comfort is more than just physical; it is emotional and spiritual. While hearing the words Hospice can be terrifying, disappointing, and scary – knowing that there is a way to create a beautiful end of life experience is heartwarming and rewarding.

I have been using Essential oils for the last four years. I truly believe in the power of these plants for physical and emotional well-being. For spiritual growth and for a toxin free life. I love teaching people how they can utilize the oils and other plant-based products to improve sleep, raise their immunity, find emotional healing, acceptance and peace. To bring natural, plant based and clean products into their homes and their life.

Aside from the oils, there is Teddy my dog who he himself is pure joy and comfort and I would love to set up some Teddy Times. The pure joy this guy brings is simply magical. I have seen countless tears and sorrow turned into joy. Sitting in silence with him or playing with him is incredible.
